

MISS PAULINE POWERS TO WED W. R. PURYEAR

Art Club to View Treasures of Valentine Museum This Afternoon.

LIPPINCOTTS ARE ENTERTAINED

Mrs. Horace Wellford Jones Gives Dinner at Country Club—Mrs. Thomas Bolling in Baltimore, on Way to Atlantic City.

Mrs. Thomas Bolling, of Richmond, who has been spending the winter months in Washington, is now stopping at the Albion in Baltimore, for two weeks. Mrs. Bolling is en route for Atlantic City, where she will spend Easter and the spring season.

Distinctions Well Entertained.

Mrs. Horace Wellford Jones gave a beautiful dinner at the Country Club yesterday night in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Lippincott, of Philadelphia. Her guests were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Gordon, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Morris Nelson, Mrs. Russell Greenhaw, Mr. McCauley, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Lippincott, and Mrs. Sally Nelson Robinson. On Sunday night Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Gordon entertained the Lippincotts at an old-fashioned Virginia supper with Dr. and Mrs. Charles Randolph Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Valentine, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin C. Ryals and Mrs. Maurice J. Linn as their guests.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Franklin Agnew, of Monroe Terrace, entertained Mr. and Mrs. Lippincott at a beautifully appointed dinner on Sunday.

Purveyor-Powers.

Mr. and Mrs. George Walton Powers, of 1219 West Avenue, announced the engagement and approaching marriage of their sister, Pauline, to William Highland Puryear, of Baltimore, the ceremony to take place very quietly on March 23 at their home. Mr. Puryear is a son of the late Professor Robert Puryear, of Richmond College, and Miss Powers is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Powers, also of Richmond.

Art Club Lecture.

Members of the Art Club of Richmond have been invited to hold their next meeting at the Valentine Museum, where they will be met by the president of the club, Bishop D. J. McCulloch, and H. B. Valentine, who will discuss the art treasures of the museum. The rooms given for the address are the art treasures collected and arranged therein. The privilege of visiting the Valentine Museum in the company of such guides will be appreciated by the club members, who have already had the pleasure of visiting the Bishop, McCulloch and Mr. Valentine at the Art Club.

The hour has been changed to 4 o'clock this afternoon, and members will assemble at the Valentine Museum in order that there may be no interruption of the lecture begins at the Jefferson.

Mrs. Anne Middleton Holmes and her son, of New York, are guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Smith, at the Jefferson Hotel. Mrs. Middleton is the daughter of Mr. J. H. Smith, of New York, who is also spending some time at the Jefferson Hotel in this city.

At the Jefferson.

Miss Lou Belle Catesby Jones will lecture this afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Jefferson Hotel. Her subject is "Alcestis," one of the plays of Euripides translated by Gilbert Murray. This is the last of a series of lectures given by Miss Jones, who has given this series of lectures at the Jefferson Hotel for the past several years.

Postures at the tea-room in the Jefferson Hotel for this afternoon include Mrs. J. H. Smith, of New York, who is also spending some time at the Jefferson Hotel in this city.

At the Woman's Club.

Miss Lou Belle Catesby Jones gave a charming "to Henry" afternoon at the Woman's Club yesterday, when she read five of this author's stories before a large and interested audience. Miss Jones is one of the leading story writers of Richmond and she interpreted with rare skill the subtle humor of this gifted writer. O. Henry's stories are cherished in the hearts of all lovers of genuine fiction, and the five stories selected by Miss Jones for her program were chosen to show the scope of his genius. One cannot tell in so many words the depth and breadth of human nature set forth by this great literary humorist, but the call of the people of the world comes to us from the printed page of his writing—high and low, rich and poor, great and small. Miss Jones gave "The Whirlwind of Life," "The Badge of a Policeman," "The Last Leaf," and "The Road of the City," and, as an encore, Laura E. Richards' lovely sketch, "About Angels."

Mrs. J. Allison Hodges, the newly-elected president of the club, presided over the first time yesterday and gave a very happy little speech to the assembled members. Mrs. Hodges said that she was not only a fellow-townswoman of O. Henry, but a student of his school, having attended school with him under the presiding eyes of his aunt, who was one of the writer's greatest sources of inspiration. Mrs. Henry Aylett Sampson was chairman of the afternoon.

Annual Dance.

The annual dance of the Psi Omega Fraternity of the Medical College of Virginia was held at the Country Club Friday night. The program was led by Seaman Story and Miss Grace Watkins, and fifty couples were present.

Those dancing were: Miss Mary Clay, with Mr. Bagley; Miss Sutton, with L. A. Bowman; Miss Brown with A. C. Carver; Miss Mary Griddle, with J. C. Cotton; Miss Elizabeth Earnest, with H. L. Earnest; Miss Grace Sarg, with P. W. Goldwin; Miss Sadie Slaughter, with L. S. Hoover; Miss Frances Blakey, with H. E. Hines; Miss Judith Watkins, with C. H. Rainey; Miss Nora Richardson, with N. J. # DATE SET FOR HEARING CASE OF APPAM LIBELS

Judge Waddill Fixes April 18 for Trial, After Hearing Pleas of Opposing Counsel.

LIBELANTS WANT EARLY DATE

Court Gives No Indication That Present Anchorage of Prize Ship Will Be Changed—Respondents File Answer to Amended Bill.

NORFOLK, VA., March 20.—In the United States District Court this afternoon, Judge Edmund Waddill set April 18 as the date for the hearing of the libels against the steamer Appam and her cargo. The question was whether the Appam would be brought to Norfolk between now and the time the cases are to be heard was taken up, but the court made no indication that the present anchorage of the vessel will be changed.

The answer to the amended libel of the Appam was also filed today, the respondents claiming that the vessel was in an unseaworthy condition when she put into Hampton Roads, and citing a treaty between the United States and Great Britain to sustain the contention that the vessel was within her rights in coming into port.

Counsel for the libelants in both cases asked for a speedy trial, while the respondents asked for a postponement of the trial until the prize court proceedings had been instituted prior to the filing of the libel by the British owners.

COURT NOW IN FULL POSSESSION OF VESSEL

That the present anchorage of the Appam was unseaworthy to the libelants was the contention of Floyd Hughes, representing the former owners of the vessel. He said that he did not believe the court was in sufficient possession of the vessel. Similar statements were made by others of the counsel for the libelants. Judge Waddill's reply being that the court was now in full possession of the vessel and had been since the libel proceedings were instituted.

Two of the contents in the exceptions, plea and answer of Lieutenant Berg and Vice-Consul von Schilling to the amended libel in the Appam proceedings are as follows:

"No facts are set out which show any violation of the neutrality of the United States."

"That even if the said allegations can be considered as showing any such violation of neutrality, it was not such a violation as would give any ground for restoring the possession of the said steamer Appam to the libelant."

The respondents deny that the German prize code is correctly quoted in the first paragraph of the amended libel. It is further alleged that when the Appam arrived in Hampton Roads on February 1, 1916, she was not in a seaworthy condition, and was manned by a prize crew of only twenty-two men, having on board crew and passengers of the captured vessel aggregating about 100 persons. It is alleged that the vessel was short of water, provisions and fuel, and was necessarily obliged to come into the harbor. The machinery was also in need of repair, it is alleged.

RELAYING UPON TREATY WITH UNITED STATES.

It does not appear that, according to the law of nations and the laws of the United States, they have not and are not entitled to hold and detain said vessel at Newport News," states the answer.

"The prize master brought her into Hampton Roads in good faith, relying upon the treaty between the United States of America and the German Empire, which provided as follows:

"The vessels of war, public and private, of both parties, shall carry freely, wherever they please, the prizes of war, without being obliged to observe any duties, charges, or fees of any officers of admiralty, of the customs, or any others, nor shall such prizes be treated, searched, or put under legal process, when they come to and enter the ports of the other party, but may freely be carried out again at any time by their captors to the places expressed in their commissions, which the commanding officer of such vessel shall be obliged to show. (But conformably to the treaties existing between the United States and Great Britain, no vessel that shall have made a prize upon British subjects shall have a right to shelter in the ports of the United States, but if forced therein by temporary or any other danger or accident of the sea, they shall be obliged to depart as soon as possible.)"

"The parts in parentheses lapsed, and were not revived by the existing treaty of 1828, and are no longer in force."

RUMOR OF STEEL PLANT FOR WILLIAMSBURG

Reports Say It Will Be Erected Just Across Creek From Proposed Du Pont Factory.

MUCH PROPERTY UNDER OPTION

Several Pieces of Real Estate Already Taken Over—Lots Are Going Rapidly in Ancient Capital as Result of Expected Industrial Boom.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] WILLIAMSBURG, VA., March 20.—Reports are rife that a big steel plant will be located just across Queens Creek from the new Du Pont plant, options having been placed on a great deal of real estate at the point mentioned. Several of these options have been closed by purchase.

The second big auction sale of real estate took place today in the subdivision known as "Capital Heights." About 100 lots were sold, prices ranging from $50 to $150. Early morning trains brought in a large crowd from all the nearby cities, including Richmond, Norfolk, Newport News, Petersburg and Hopewell. The cold weather kept the size of the crowd down, but bidding was spirited, and everything was sold shortly after noon. Other subdivisions seem to be going on the market.

Enthusiasm over the outlook for property in and near Williamsburg. It is generally conceded that this city will be the center of all activities for months to come. The fact that the Du Pont terminal will be at Williamsburg instead of at a point a mile or two to the eastward, assures this city the cream of the business for a long time.
